Course Introduction

Propaganda is the strategic use of information to influence public perception, often with a specific agenda. In today's hyper-connected, digital world, its methods are more sophisticated and pervasive than ever, making it an essential subject for critical analysis. Advanced Media and Propaganda Studies Training Course provides a comprehensive exploration of the historical and contemporary landscape of propaganda, disinformation, and misinformation. It is designed for professionals and academics who need to develop advanced skills in identifying, analyzing, and countering manipulative communication techniques across various media platforms.

This course moves beyond basic media literacy to delve into the complex psychological, social, and political dynamics of information warfare. You'll gain a deeper understanding of how algorithmic amplification, deepfakes, and AI-generated content are reshaping the information ecosystem. By combining theoretical frameworks with practical, hands-on exercises and real-world case studies, participants will learn to deconstruct narratives, expose hidden agendas, and develop effective strategies for promoting media integrity and public trust in an era of unprecedented digital manipulation.
