Course Modules

Module 1: Foundations of Non-Discrimination and Equality

- Define non-discrimination, equality (formal and substantive), and their interrelationship.
- Explore the concept of direct and indirect discrimination in policy and practice.
- Discuss the principle of progressive realization of economic, social, and cultural rights.
- Introduce the concept of "grounds of discrimination" (e.g., race, sex, religion, disability, age, origin).
- Overview of international human rights law as the basis for non-discrimination in social protection.

Module 2: International Legal Instruments and Social Protection

- Deep dive into key international human rights instruments relevant to social protection:
 - Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR) - Article 22.
 - International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights (ICESCR) - Article 9.
 - Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women (CEDAW).
 - Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (CRPD).
 - International Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Racial Discrimination (ICERD).
- Discuss the General Comments and Concluding Observations of treaty bodies.
- Analyzing the legal obligations of states under these instruments.

Module 3: National Constitutional and Legislative Frameworks

- Examine constitutional provisions guaranteeing social security and non-discrimination.
- Analyze national social security laws, social assistance laws, and other relevant legislation.
- Identifying potential discriminatory clauses or omissions in national laws.
- Discuss the role of subsidiary legislation (regulations, decrees) in implementing non-discrimination.
- Practical exercise: reviewing a sample national social protection law for discriminatory provisions.

Module 4: Grounds of Discrimination in Social Protection

- Gender: Analyzing direct and indirect discrimination against women in social protection (e.g., pension gaps, maternity benefits).
- Age: Discrimination against older persons (e.g., mandatory retirement, inadequate pensions) and youth (e.g., limited access to benefits).
- Disability: Barriers to access, inadequate benefits, and lack of reasonable accommodation for persons with disabilities.
- Ethnicity/Race/Caste: Discrimination faced by indigenous peoples, ethnic minorities, and caste-affected communities.
- Nationality/Migrant Status: Exclusion of migrants, refugees, and asylum seekers from national social protection.

Module 5: Identifying Direct and Indirect Discrimination

- Methodologies for identifying direct discrimination (explicitly discriminatory provisions).
- Techniques for uncovering indirect discrimination (seemingly neutral provisions that disproportionately affect certain groups).
- Discuss the use of disaggregated data and qualitative evidence to prove indirect discrimination.
- Analyzing the "effects" of policies rather than just their "intent."
- Case studies of legal challenges to discriminatory social protection provisions.

Module 6: Legal Reform and Policy Advocacy

- Strategies for advocating for legal reforms to ensure non-discrimination in social protection.
- Discuss the process of drafting and amending social protection legislation.
- Engaging with parliamentarians, policymakers, and civil society for legal reform.
- Leveraging international human rights mechanisms for national advocacy.
- Case studies of successful legal reforms promoting non-discrimination.

Module 7: Grievance Redress Mechanisms and Legal Remedies

- The importance of accessible and effective grievance redress mechanisms for social protection beneficiaries.
- Discuss administrative review processes and appeals procedures.
- Exploring judicial remedies: bringing cases to national courts for social protection rights violations.
- The role of national human rights institutions (NHRIs) and ombudspersons.
- Case studies of legal recourse for social protection discrimination.

Module 8: Implementation Challenges and Opportunities

- Analyzing common challenges in implementing non-discriminatory social protection (e.g., lack of awareness, capacity, resources, political will).
- Discuss the role of administrative practices and discretion in perpetuating discrimination.
- Strategies for building capacity within social protection administrations for non-discriminatory practice.
- Exploring opportunities for leveraging technology for inclusive and non-discriminatory delivery.
- Addressing corruption and rent-seeking behavior that disproportionately affects vulnerable groups.

Module 9: Monitoring, Evaluation, and Accountability

- Designing robust M&E frameworks to track progress towards non-discrimination in social protection.
- Developing indicators to measure equitable access, coverage, and adequacy of benefits.

- Strategies for collecting disaggregated data to identify and monitor inequalities.
- Discussing accountability mechanisms to ensure states uphold their legal obligations.
- The role of civil society and independent monitoring bodies in promoting accountability.

Module 10: Multi-Stakeholder Dialogue and Partnerships

- Fostering effective dialogue and partnerships between government, civil society, legal professionals, and marginalized groups.
- Discuss the critical role of organizations representing marginalized communities (e.g., OPDs, women's groups, migrant associations).
- Building strong alliances for legal advocacy and implementation.
- Strategies for ensuring meaningful participation of affected communities in legal and policy reform processes.
- Lessons learned from collaborative efforts to promote non-discrimination.

Module 11: International Cooperation and Technical Assistance

- The role of international organizations and bilateral donors in supporting non-discriminatory social protection.
- Discuss technical assistance for legal reform, capacity building, and data systems.
- Exploring South-South cooperation and peer learning on non-discrimination.
- Leveraging international financial institutions to promote equity in social protection investments.
- Case studies of successful international partnerships for legal reform.

Module 12: Future Directions and Advancing Social Justice

- Exploring emerging legal challenges and opportunities for non-discrimination in social protection (e.g., gig economy, climate change).
- Discussing the role of universal social protection floors in ensuring non-discrimination.
- Analyzing the intersection of non-discrimination with other human rights in social protection.
- Advocating for a stronger global commitment to social justice and human dignity through equitable social protection.
- Developing a personal or organizational action plan for advancing non-discrimination in social protection.
